men are driving a brisk trade on the cars and boats this mason. Every day we hear of some person being vicseason. Never day we need of them is a sharper disguised as a Yankee, and is considered the smartest man in the business. He is very "flat" in appearance, wearing a coat out at the elbows, a straw hat one size too large, ungainly looking shoes that are never blacked, and when he talks indulges in that poculiar Eastern syle of inguage which always denotes the live Yankee. He does all the talking and laughing, while his two companions say nothing, but work This disguised Yankee and his assistants generally "work the cara" on the Hudson River Railroad. The boats, however, sometimes receive their especial attention, as undoubtedly many young summer tourists of the male species can testify.

River Railroad recently drew a passenger train forty-three miles in fifty-seven minutes, the fool used in gen-rating steam being peat. The engineer states that he had plenty of steam all the time, and that the peat worked satisfactorily in every way. Another test similar to the above will soon be made, the only difference being an increase in the number of miles of travel. The Hudeon River Ratirond Company are now laying steel raise on the lower and of the road, and it is expected that all of thirty miles will be finished before the snow files. Hannes Travens.—On Monday evening the harness room of Mr. William Elisworth, a gentleman residing a short distance south of Foughkeapsis, was entered by thieves, who stole therefrom tifree sets of harness and a buffalo robe. circumstances of the case, as set forth in the affidavits, are as follows:—

The Denmans hold a lease of premiers No. 27854 Weet street, in which they carry on the business of a restaurant. For some time prior to the 10th of July Howan was in negotiation with them for the purchase of such lease and business, with fixture, &c., and had finally arranged to give them six thousand dollars for the property. Accordingly, on the 10th day of July, all the parties, Hogan, Smith, Mrs. Mahen and the Denmans, attended together at the office of John H. Harnett, legal adviser of the Denmans, where they (the Denmans exocuted an assignment of the lease and a bill of sale of the fixtures to Anne Mahen, a sister of Hogan's, whereupon Hegan and Smith hande to Harnett as part payment of the six thousand dollars agreed upon, three certificates of deposit of the North Rever Bank, Hobstee, for the sun total of five thousand five hundred doffars, said certificates being signed by W. A. Perkins, cashier, and endorsed by theree Newman. This paper Harnett refused to accept, on the ground that he had no knowledge of the bank. To this, it is alleged, Hogan and Smith replied that the certificates were perfectly good, that the bank was solvent and that Charles Newman, the payers, was the father in-law of Smith, a man of immense wealth and a leare stockholder in the bank to be piaced in the heade of Hogan, to be by him held outil ten o'clock the following merning, when they were to be delivered to Mrs. Mahen if Demman cannot the papers to be piaced in the heade of Hogan, two the by him held outil ten o'clock the following merning, when they were to be delivered to Mrs. Mahen if Demman and francducent factes were daied, W.
